Wayne Smith - Long Beach Bridge Construction Update

What local project will cost $1.5 billion, soars 500 feet in the air, will have 300,000 cubic feet of concrete, 90 million pounds of steel and more than 300 construction workers, welders and engineers working on it on any given day? Ask Wayne Smith of the Port of Long Beach.

The Gerald Desmond Replacement Bridge in Long Beach Harbor, set to fully open in 2018, will have six-lanes and will span 1.5 miles. Join us at historic Los Angeles Yacht Club on November 1st to get an update from Wayne Smith on the construction and hear first hand what it's like to build one of the nation's tallest cable-stayed bridges in one of the nation's busiest harbors. Truly a signature project.
